

SweetSips Competitor

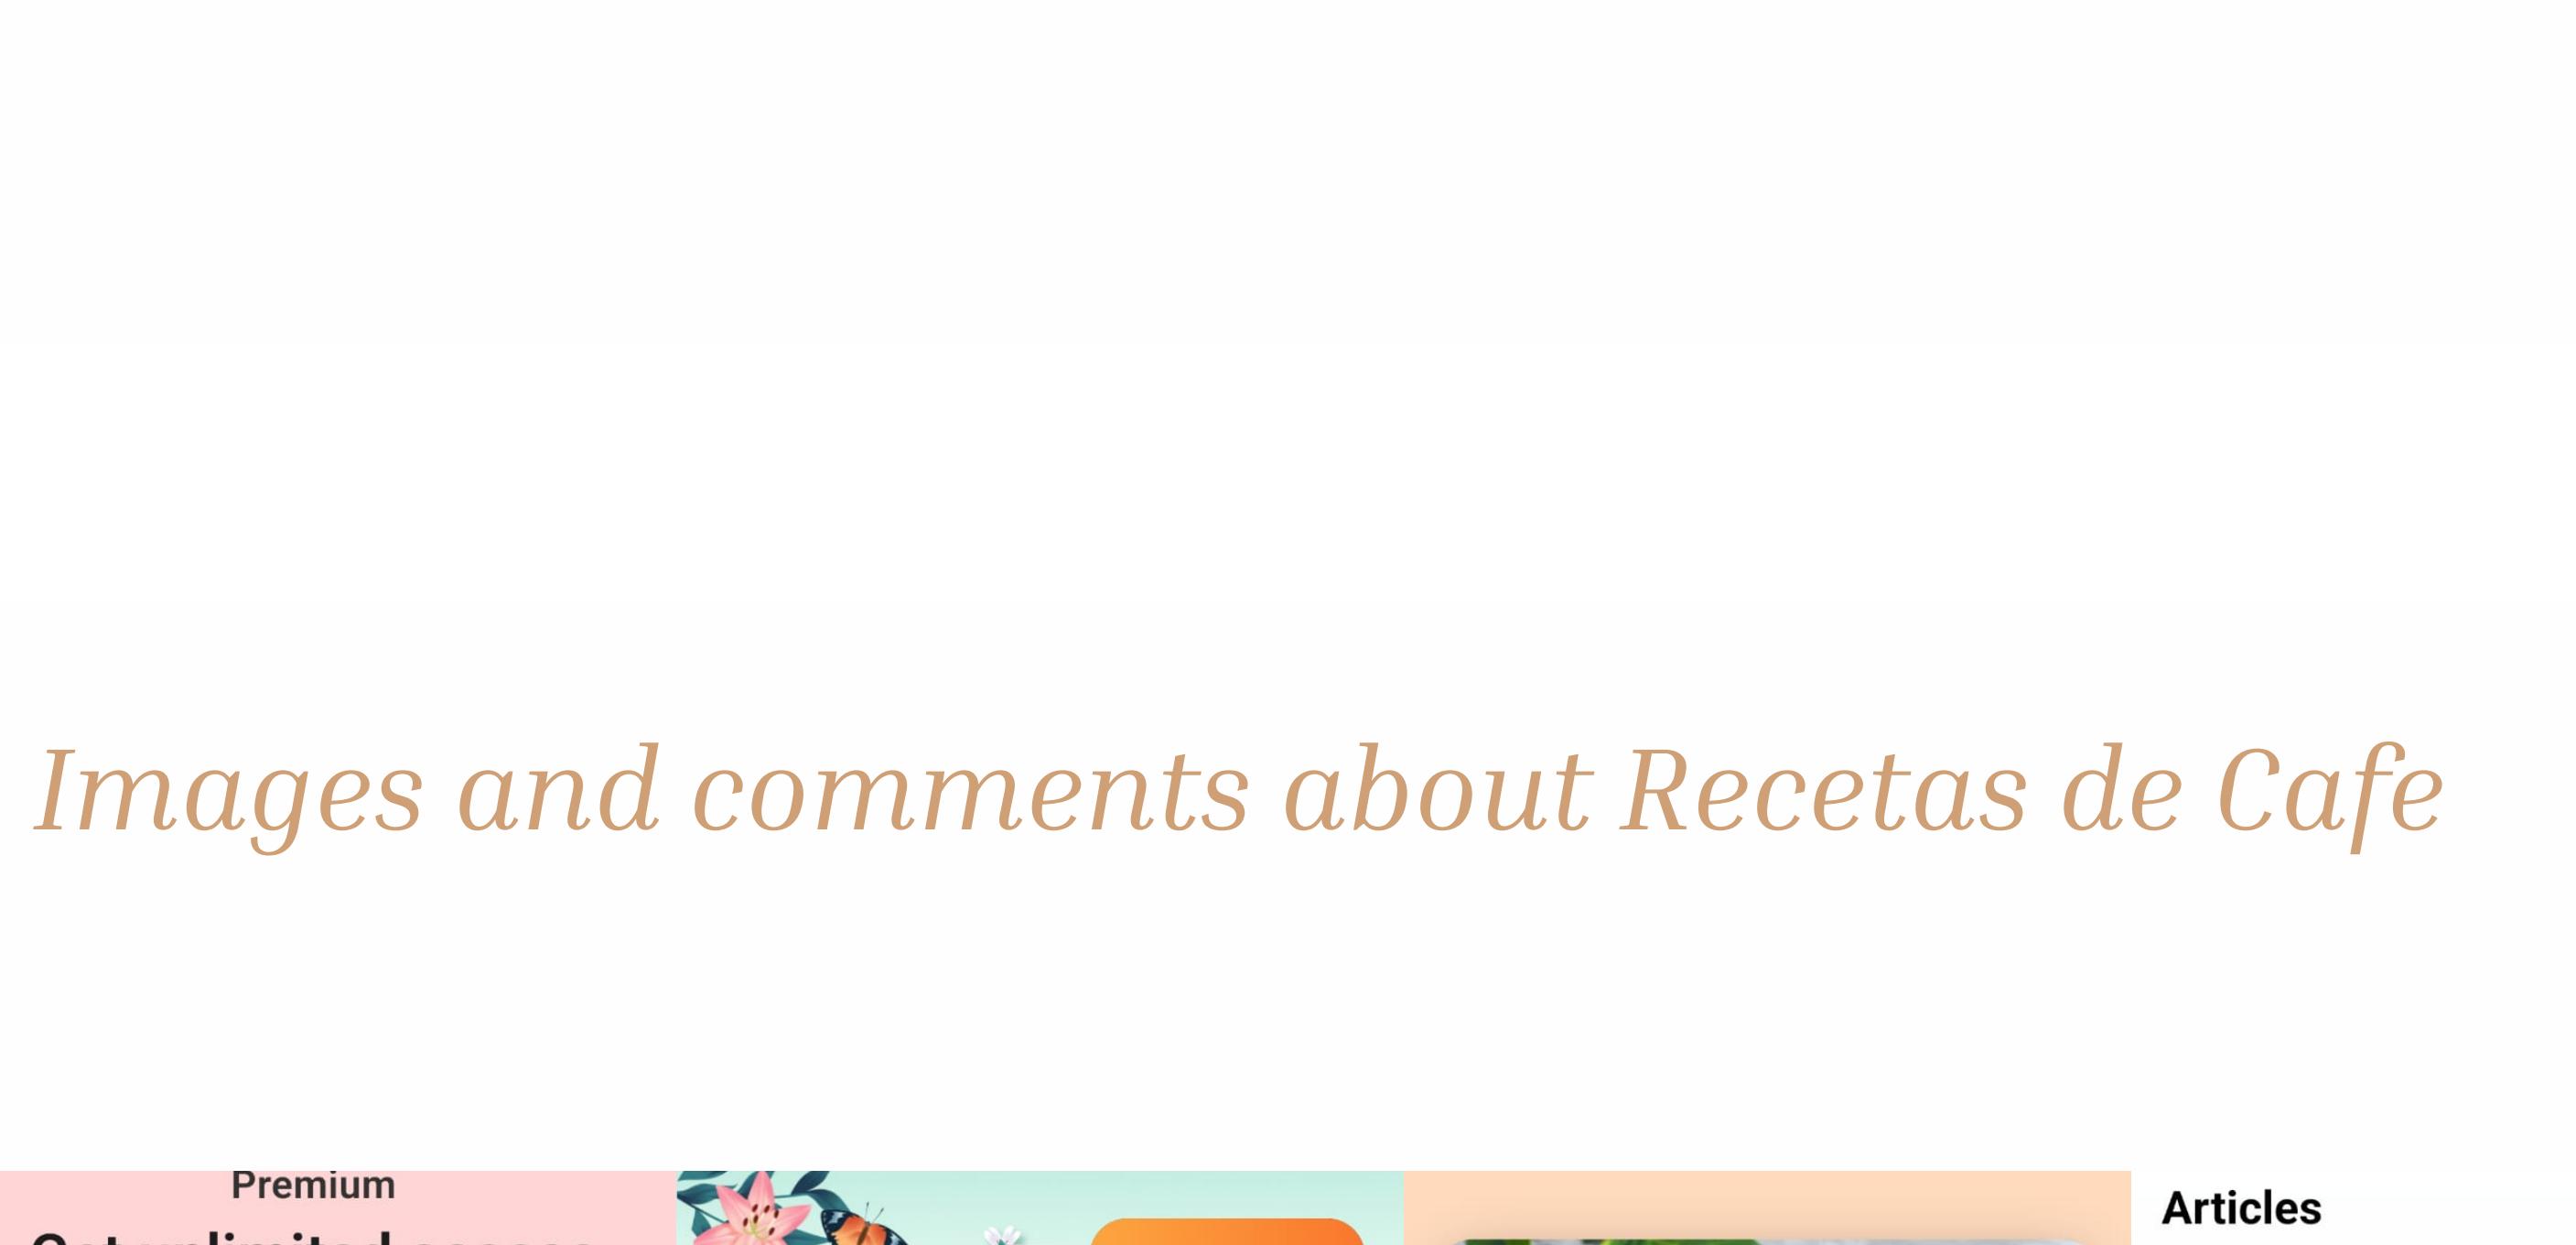

Images and comments about Coffely

Team comment

In Coffely we see a very completely application, with a lot of things that we can use, but also it has a lot of information in the screen. This can be something bad, but we can use the recipes thing and the blogs about coffee for our application.

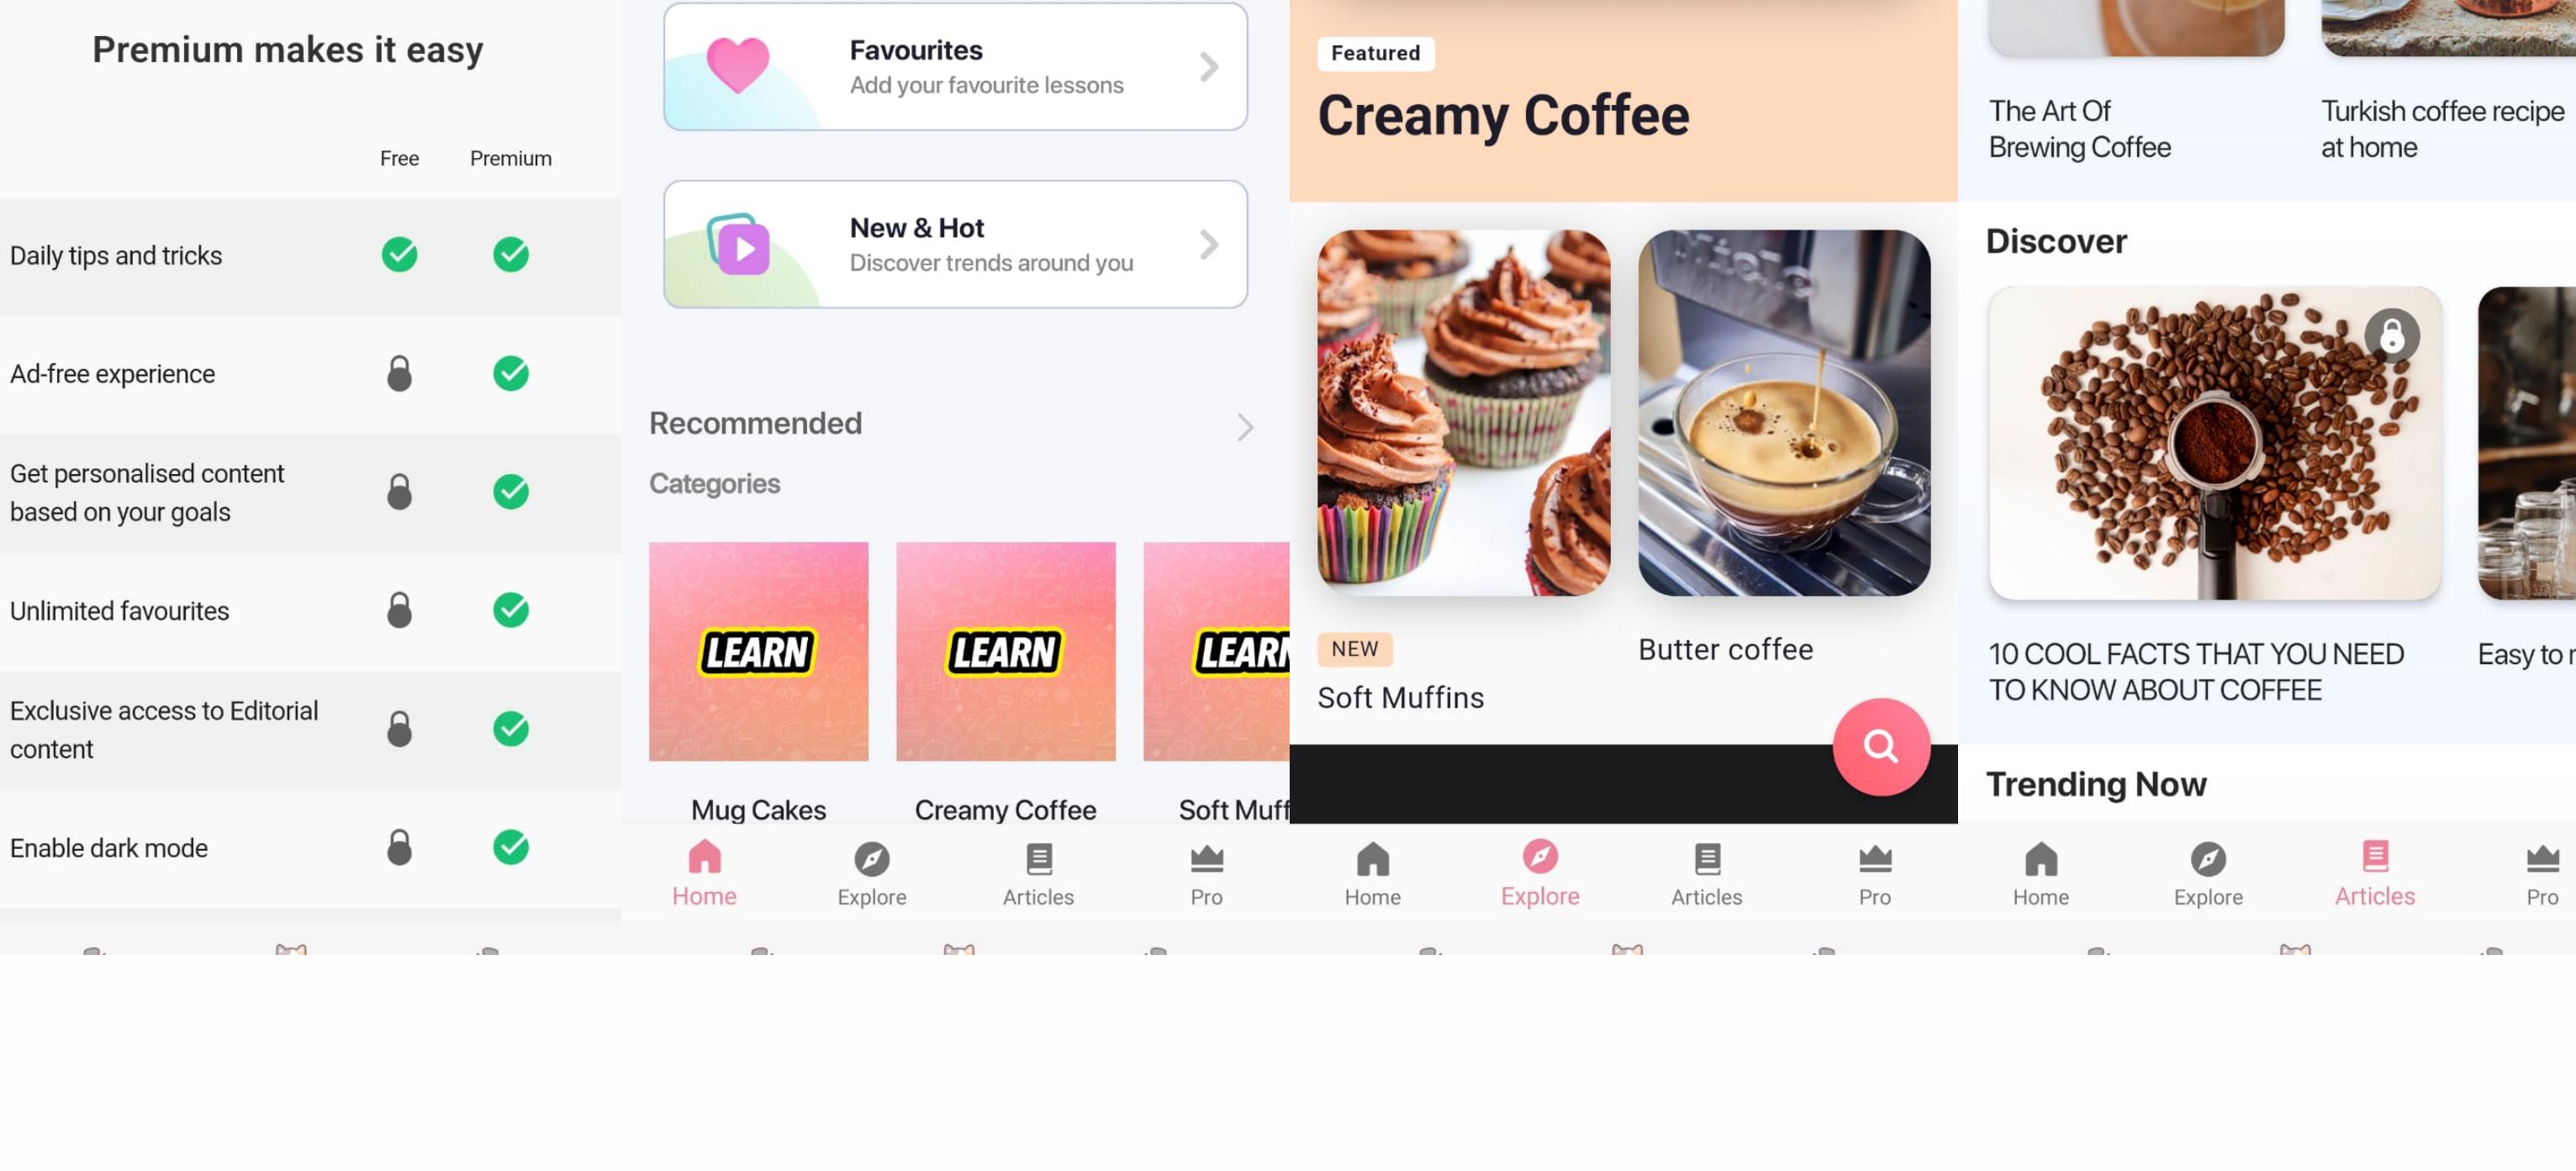

Images and comments about HelloWine

Team comment

HelloWine is the main application that we use of inspiration for our app of coffee, the idea of have a subscription to taste news flavors it seems to be so attractive for an application of coffee.

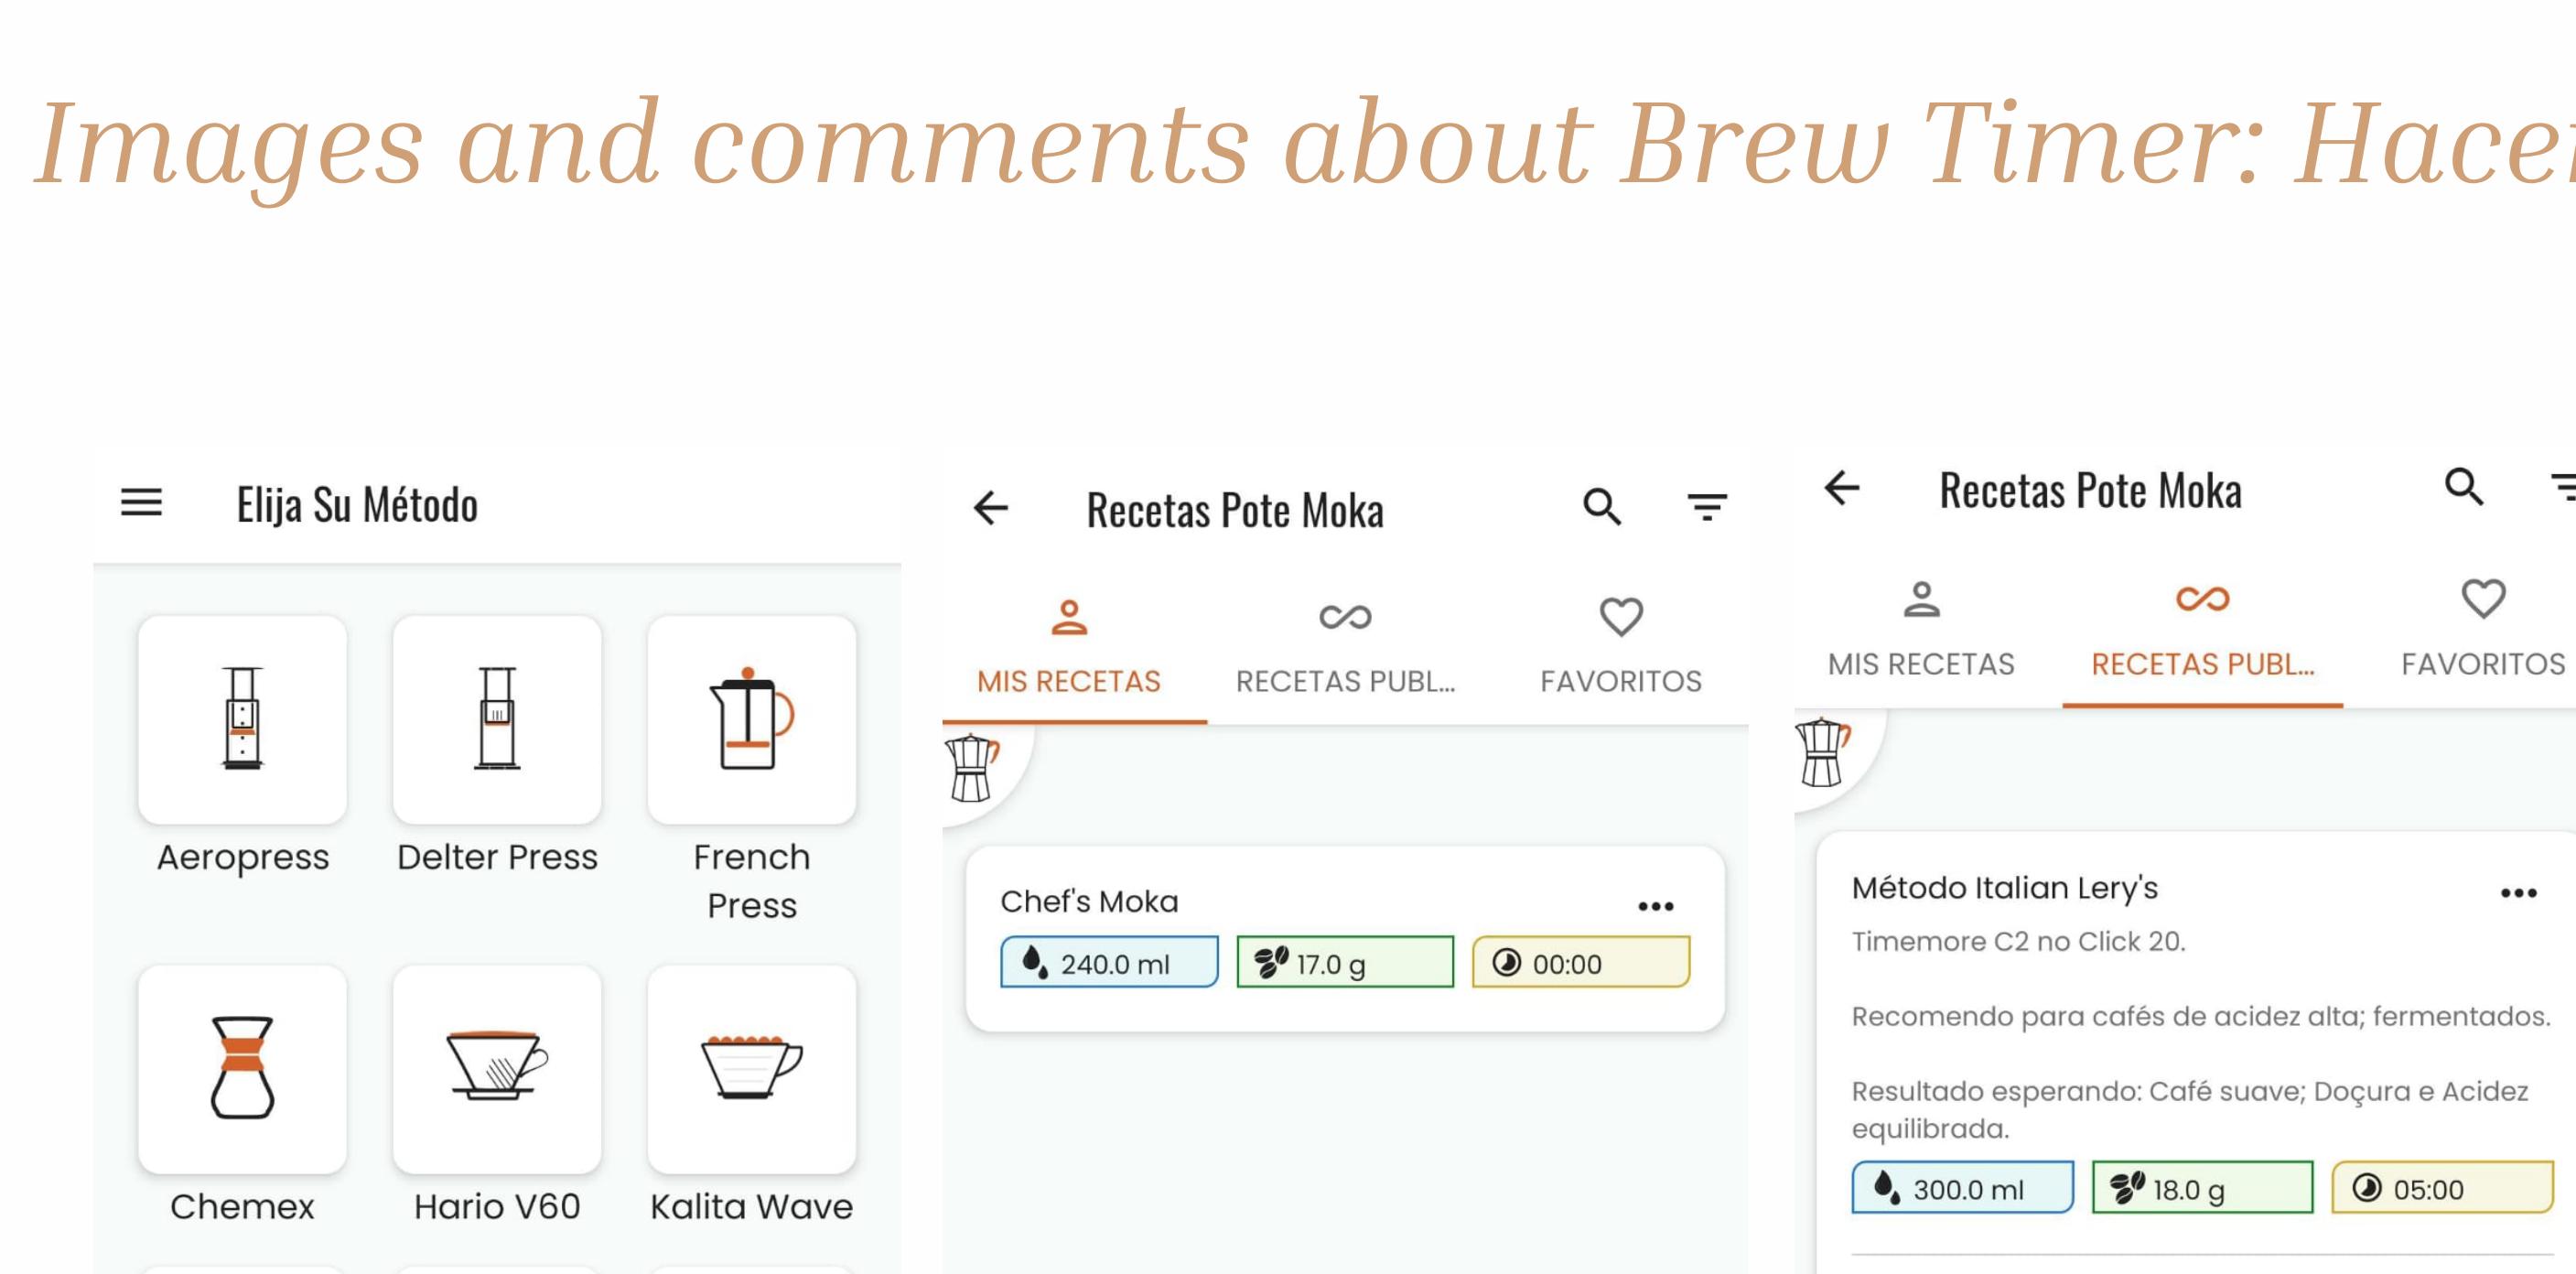

Images and comments about Recetas de Cafe

Team comment

This coffee app stands out for its premium membership, a visually attractive interface with a clean design and intensive use of images. Additionally, it maintains user interest with frequent content updates and emerging trends in the world of coffee. These elements could be essential when developing and fine-tuning your own coffee app.

Images and comments about Brew Timer: Hacer buen cafe

Team comment

In this application we can see that the part of the metods are very extend, and this seems to be something very completely, because not everyone has the same coffee maker. It also has recipes and the time that takes to make the recipe, this seems to be very helpfull for the main user.